

BRITAIN'S NEW OCEAN QUEEN IN N. YORK HARBOR

Elizabeth, $28,750,000 Liner, At End of 3,000

Mile Dash THWARTS SUBS IN LONG TRIP ACROSS

Preparations Are Made To Receive Ship at Foot Of W. 50th St.

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 7.—With the "Queen" Union Jack proudly flying at her mast, Britain's new $28,750,000 liner Queen Elizabeth—the largest, fastest ship afloat—arrived within the safety of New York harbor waters today at the end of her bold dash 3,000 miles across the Atlantic.

Painted a drab gray, the 85,000-ton liner passed Ambrose lightship shortly after 9 a. m. and headed toward the narrows, past winter-deserted Coney Island, with the skyline of New York 20 miles distant.

Evades U-Boat Threat A war-time fugitive, fleeing the dangers of German bombing assaults in her Clyde river berth in Scotland, the Queen Elizabeth successfully evaded the threat of German undersea attack and triumphed in its risk of a mortal blow against British claims of supremacy of the sea.

Planes flying out of New York first sighted the Queen "looking like a dirty gray whale" off Fire Island, cutting up a mile-long wake as her giant engines turned up apparently close to her top speed of more than 32 knots.

Only a few figures were seen on the decks, and from the planes there was no indication that the world's largest ship even had a name painted on her gray-smudged prow.

Not until a TWA plane made a second circle over the Queen Elizabeth did the ship even make her nationality known. On the second circle, crew members broke out the Union Jack and some of the crew waved.

She missed the morning slack tide and most likely will drop anchor near the old quarantine station, Staten Island, before proceeding up the bay late this afternoon to her pier at 50th Street.

Straightens Out Black smoke belched from the Queen Elizabeth's two slatted funnels as she suddenly straightened out from her previous zig-zag course and cut a direct line from New York harbor—apparently sure, now, that she was in safe waters.

Below the water-line, the ship showed dark red and along the water line there were patches of black under the gray paint, indicating her war paint had been hastily applied for the audacious voyage to this country.

Poor visibility that hampered the observations of passengers in the welcoming planes improved as the Queen Elizabeth neared the harbor.

Roumania Ready To Fight For Independence, King Says

All Resources Behind Army, Carl Declares As He Opens Parliament Session

(By Associated Press) BUCHAREST, March 7.—King Carol II opened parliament today with a declaration that all the resources of Roumania would be thrown behind her army as a "supreme guarantee of our independence and of the integrity of our borders."

Disclosing that taxes would be materially increased to bear the cost of keeping 1,600,000 men under arms, the monarch said:

"I am sure my people will accept such sacrifices for the sake of the country and peace."

Strict neutrality, he declared, will be continued even in the fields of foreign commerce "in order to assure the essential flow of supplies to our army and our people."

Carol's statement was approved in a long session of the crown council last night amid signs of an even sharper struggle between Germany and the British-French allies for Roumania's favor in exports of raw materials.

The monarch told parliament that the government is assured of the stability and continuity necessary to execute a long-range program "which will include intensification of production in all lines."

In a declaration that relations between Roumania and other nations are good, the king specifically mentioned only Italy and Bulgaria.

Meanwhile, Virel Tillea, Roumanian minister to London, was reported on his way home to deliver a British proposal that Great Britain be accorded equal treatment with Germany on Roumanian exports, including oil, the most coveted product.

On the other hand it was reported that German pressure on Roumania now included a demand for the country's entire 1940 wool crop.

The native year industry would be ruined if such a demand were fulfilled, economic experts said. If Great Britain and Germany were to share alike in Roumanian oil only 800,000 tons of the 1940 maximum production, estimated at 4,000,000 tons, would remain for other disposition.

This remainder would not suffice to maintain Roumanian trade with the Balkans, Italy and other countries—trade in which Roumania receives other products in exchange for her oil—aside from supplying Roumania's own military needs.

The economic tug-of-war over Roumanian products was seen by diplomats to be pushing King Carol's government closer than ever to the necessity of dropping neutrality and picking a side in the European war.

Wellsville Police Scored By Council

WELLSVILLE, March 7.—Wellsville city council Tuesday night saluted the operation of the police department amid charges the night patrol is inadequate, the cruiser "is being used as a taxi," and that the service might be improved if the chief "would get out on the street."

Chief Fultz only comment was: "I feel sorry for some people."

Upshot of the lengthy debate was that efforts will be made to place a half-mile levy on the ballot May 14 for additional police, and that a new cruiser will be purchased if the finance committee recommends it.

SUMNER WELLES CONFERS TODAY WITH DALABIER

Interviews French Leader On Fact-Finding Tour For FDR

PARIS PLANNING STIFF SCHEDULE

Will Fly to London Sunday Before Returning To America

(By Associated Press) PARIS, March 7.—Sumner Welles, United States undersecretary of state, arrived here today for his first interviews with leaders of the British-French allies on his fact-finding tour for President Roosevelt.

He was driven to his hotel in a bullet-proof automobile. When he received the press at the American embassy two hours after arriving here a police detail was posted outside the building.

Welles reiterated to newspapermen merely that he had "no proposals to make and no commitments to offer" for the United States government.

"Mute as a Carp" Receiving the American, British and French press corps in a body, the United States undersecretary warned that he had adopted a Lausanne newspaper's description of him, "mute as a carp."

He repeated assurances given in other capitals that nothing one party tells him during his trip will be referred to "directly or indirectly" in talks with other parties.

Answering a question, he said he intended to draw no comparisons for publication on effects of the war in various countries he visits and that he will make no visit to the war zone in France.

Welles' stiff schedule called for him to be received by President Albert Lebrun at Elysee palace at 10 a. m. by Premier Daladier at the war ministry an hour later and by Auguste de Champetier de Ribes, French foreign affairs undersecretary, after still another hour.

Daladier will entertain him at dinner later with only a few others present.

Goes to London Sunday Welles said he would fly to London Sunday and be in Paris for a few hours again next week enroute to Rome, where he will spend a few more days before sailing for the United States March 18.

The President's investigator had spent the night traveling from Lausanne, Switzerland, in a special car on the Simplon-Orient express, accompanied by James O. Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain.

Kennedy planned to continue to London during the day.

Welles is believed to have brought from Berlin a clear picture of Adolf Hitler's price for peace and of German determination to fight to the finish to attain the fuhrer's aims.

Hitler is reputed to have told Welles last Saturday that Germany would fight until she had, primarily, unchallenged political influence over Bohemia-Moravia, Slovakia, Poland and Hungary, return of her colonies and release from what Germans called British-sterling control of the seas.

During his three-day stay here he was expected to find French opinion equally as unyielding and based on one idea: beat Germany first.

Third Interview Welles' interview with Daladier will be his third with the "big four" of Europe's leaders. He began his swing through the chief European capitals with a meeting in Rome with Italian Premier Mussolini, traveled from there to Berlin to see Hitler, and came here after a respite in Switzerland.

During his visit here, it has been announced, he will confer with officials of the Polish government in exile.

Welles has refused so far to discuss publicly either his questions to leaders in Rome and Berlin or their answers, holding that his information was for the President's ears only, and that there was no indication that his Paris conferences would be exceptions to the secrecy rule.

GOVERNOR RACE PARED TO SEVEN

Democratic Plumber's Helper Quits In Favor Of Davey

COLUMBUS, March 7.—One withdrawal left seven candidates in the running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination today amid rumors of new additions and retirements.

The entry of former Gov. Martin L. Davey in the race prompted Lawrence T. Baker of Columbus, plumber's assistant on the WPA, to withdraw. Baker urged his supporters to vote for Davey, who, he said, would be a "true friend" of the laboring man in the governor's office.

Hear "Draft White" Movement Some grangers reported a movement to draft former Gov. George White, although he has said he would not run if Davey were a candidate. Friends of Harold G. Mosier of Cleveland, former congressman-at-large, were urging him to leave the governor's race and campaign for attorney general.

Davey, meanwhile, agreed to become a delegate-at-large to the Democratic national convention on the state organization's slate which will list National Committeeman Charles Sawyer as "favorite son" presidential candidate but will be pledged to support President Roosevelt for a third term if he wants it.

Davey said Arthur L. Limbach, chairman of the state executive committee, asked him to be a delegate.

Seventh district Democrats and Republicans completed their organization work in Springfield. The Democrats selected Paul V. Miller of London and John D. McAuliffe of Marysville as delegates and en-

Lisbon Pump Popular Spot

Rush Begins When Village Water Takes On Sombre Hue

LISBON, March 7.—The old town pump on the village square is a popular place these days.

Lisbon residents are all but plumping the well dry as they take gallon after gallon away in jugs.

Even restaurant proprietors send waitresses over to the pump for good drinking water to serve their customers.

The rush on the town pump started several days ago when the village's drinking water—for quite some time distasteful—took on a color somewhat between that of coffee and tea.

Although he said he believed the water harmless, even if discolored, Dr. Seward Harris of Lisbon, county health commissioner, advised citizens of the village to boil the water they used.

Meanwhile, the board of public affairs members took samples of the water to a chemist for an analysis in another attempt to find out what's wrong.

The Lisbon water has never been the same, village residents declare, since a new pumping station was installed four years ago on the Leetonia road. The wells in use are the same ones which supplied good drinking water before the new station was built, they claim.

Village officials have attempted to solve the problem ever since, but now, more than ever before, is the town pump being patronized.

Fire Alarm Whistle Is Tested by Chief

A new whistle, to blow at the time of a fire, was installed yesterday at the waterworks pumping station.

The whistle, which had been in use for years, just blew itself out the other day and wouldn't even tick.

Fire Chief Vincent Malloy had the new whistle tested last night and the repeated signals caused a number of calls seeking information as to the location of the fire.

Principal purpose of the whistle is to notify firemen on the "off turn" to come to the station while the others on duty answer an alarm. Years ago the whistle was used as a means of assembling the volunteer department.

FORMER JUDGE GIVES SELF UP

Manton Ready for Prison Term On Charge of Selling Justice

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 7.—Martin T. Manton, former presiding judge of the U. S. circuit court of appeals, surrendered today to the United States marshal to begin a two-year prison term for selling justice.

Manton, his face cast in its usual scowl, went to the United States court house at 9:25 a. m. and walked directly to the office of Leo Lowenthal, the marshal.

He is to serve his sentence in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where numerous men on whom he once passed judgment have paid their penalty for breaking the law.

The former jurist, who is approaching 60, was convicted last June 3. Federal Judge Calvin Chesnut of Maryland, who presided at the trial, said the case was without precedence in 150 years of American jurisprudence.

Youth Faints After Rescue from Auto Wreck by Firemen

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, March 7.—With his skull fractured and one hand badly mangled, Denis Reynolds, 22, remained conscious an hour early today while firemen with acetylene torches freed him from twisted automobile wreckage—and then he fainted.

"We had to use hydraulic jacks to lift the top off him," related Fire Capt. W. J. Lewis. "He was conscious, but apparently the shock had numbed him. He talked a little, telling his arm and legs hurt. He didn't know how badly he had been injured."

Every time we applied the torch to the steel posts of the car the interior would catch fire and we had to spray it with water. His clothes never caught fire because we kept wet canvas on him, but it was a tough job getting him out without burning him. He was conscious until we lifted him out, then he fainted."

Reynolds is near death in University hospital. William Schlueter, 22, died three hours after the car skidded and overturned. Two other youths were hurt.

A large number of members of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends is expected for the conference.

REDS REPORTED OFFERING TERMS

Official Swedish Circles Neither Deny Nor Confirm Rumors

(By Associated Press) STOCKHOLM, March 7.—Sweden is seeking to arrange an armistice in the Russian-Finnish war, usually reliable sources said today, adding that Russian peace terms recently had been presented to Finland.

The exact nature of the terms is still the subject of speculation, but there were unconfirmed reports that Russia demanded surrender of the Karelian isthmus, Viipuri, Lake Ladoga and part of the far northern Petsamo area.

An armistice, it was said, would be followed by further efforts to arrange a peace settlement.

Official Swedish circles said they could neither deny nor confirm reports that Sweden had submitted peace terms from Joseph Stalin to the Helsinki government.

One theory was that negotiations thus far had proceeded through the Russian minister to Sweden, Madame Alexandra Kollontay, the Finnish minister here, Eljas Erkkio, who is former Finnish foreign minister, and the Swedish foreign office.

Doubt was expressed in some informed circles, however, whether any mediation bid from a Scandinavian country had a reasonable chance of success.

These sources believed the Kremlin to have become settlement over admitted Scandinavian sympathies for Finland to such a point that a mediator's role would be difficult.

The Finnish attitude toward negotiations was regarded as questionable, depending on the Finns' opinion of their chances of continuing their defense.

Finns Willing to Negotiate It was pointed out that the Finns have expressed a consistent willingness to negotiate provided they can do so with honor and full recognition of their national integrity.

Significance also was seen in reports that Dr. Juho Paasikivi, Finnish diplomat, is in Stockholm. He headed the Finnish delegation in unsuccessful pre-war negotiations at Moscow on Russian territorial demands which Finland found a threat to her independence.

If peace negotiations actually are under way, Scandinavian political quarters assume that Berlin also is interested.

There are unconfirmed reports even that the German minister to Finland, Dr. Wipert von Blucher, has conferred in Helsinki with a representative of the Finnish generalissimo, Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim, and Finnish government officials.

According to the current reports, Stalin has called for surrender of the Karelian isthmus to Russia, along with the City of Viipuri, all of Lake Ladoga, and some territory in the Petsamo district on the Arctic coast.

Taft Believes In Local Relief Aid

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 7.—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-O), aspirant for the Presidential nomination, believes local communities should administer work relief, with the help of federal funds.

In a radio address last night on "government help," the senator declared "real danger of starvation threatens so many millions" and that relief must be provided for the unemployed. He added:

"I think it is greatly aggravated by the economic planning, price fixing and regulatory and spending policies of the federal government. The federal government has never been willing to give up the political power and federal prestige resulting from a federal work program."

Discussing the system of state aid for relief, old age pensions, housing and medical care, Taft warned "the administration of all these experiments is so loose and inadequate and unplanned that the whole system is in serious danger of breaking down and dragging the country down with it."

He criticized WPA as "both expensive and inadequate," adding that "it provides a federal work program, which encourages men to stay on relief."

NEUTRALITY NOTE NO. 37

Italy is neutral. But unlike some other neutrals, whose neutrality is acceptable to both sides, Italy is under heavy pressure to bestow its favor as a belligerent.

Probably this explains its quibble with Great Britain over coal being sent from Germany to Italy by the water route. The British, who apparently haven't been successful in coaxing Italy out of the Rome-Berlin axis and into the allied front, now seem to be resorting to stronger measures. Nothing Britain could do is more likely to worry Premier Mussolini than a demonstration of seapower at the expense of Italian shipping.

It must be noted, however, that the British demonstration nominally is against Germany, which supplies the coal and is subject, under British naval policy, to blockade. Italy, like the Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and other sea-going neutrals is merely an incidental British victim of the war on the water. No precedent is being established to impound its coal vessels; the United States is subject to the same indignity in belligerent waters. The significant fact is that until the British flamed down its coal boats Italy had been free to come and go as it pleased, the pampered darling of both sides.

HEALTH COMMUNIQUE

With no delay whatever this encouraging news from United States public health service is passed along. The seasonal peak for influenza has been passed, and the situation is well in hand. "Once the curve definitely starts downward," says the health service, "it seldom turns back to a new high."

The year's peak was reached the first week in February—17,641 cases. The total has dwindled since then to 12,000 cases at the beginning of this month. It will keep on dwindling till next July, when influenza scarcely is worth worrying about.

The health service admits it is difficult to keep statistics on influenza because so many things that resemble it are dignified with the name. However, on the basis of statistics available, it is the 12th cause of death in the country, reached its highest mortality rate in 1918 (300.8 per 100,000 population) and its lowest rate in 1921 (11.4 per 100,000 of population).

Important inference to be drawn from the communiqué is that the worst is over for another year.

CHEAP AT THE PRICE

For the paltry sum of $1,200, New York City, whose budget for the current year runs close to $300,000,000, has obtained suggestions for saving hundreds of thousands. The ideas didn't come from backseat drivers either, but from city employees spending the city's money.

First prize in an economy suggestion contest sponsored by the Civil Service Good Government committee was to establish a city-wide cost accounting system. Second prizes went to employees suggesting a city-wide reclamation yard and a $300,000 saving by eliminating a group of 183 useless political appointees hidden in the city's vast payroll lists. Other prizes were given for suggestions of a city type-writer repair unit, establishment of a city taxi service to replace assigned cars, and consolidation of city electrical inspection.

Whether or not the suggestions are taken seriously is another matter. Important thing is the discovery that jobholders are as interested in economy as taxpayers if someone will take the trouble to ask them.

THREE PERCENT

The war was relatively quiet Tuesday. A sharp ear could have heard a bomb explode in a tin pan factory.

But there was important war news. In London it was announced that next Tuesday a new British war loan of approximately $1,200,000,000 would be floated at three percent. Bonds will be issued at par and will be redeemable at par on Oct. 15, 1959.

Three percent of $1,200,000,000 is $36,000,000. In 19 years the exchequer will have stood $684,000,000 of interest and still won't be out of the woods. Furthermore, $1,200,000,000 plus $684,000,000 is only a drop in the bucket.

Compared with what the war is going to cost Great Britain, to say nothing of unpaid debts being piled up by the other belligerents—on top of the unpaid bill for the World war—it's as inconsequential as March 5, 1940, was in the second World war.

ALLEGORY

It's not every day that Americans get the benefit of an allegory about government.

Shenandoah was just an average small town, outwardly safe and sound as a hickory nut.

Then one day there was a rumbling and a creaking and when the dust settled Shenandoah had caved in here and there.

Confidence was shaken. The immediate damage, while great, was less fearsome than the damage in store. No one ever would believe in the soundness of Shenandoah again.

For years men had been undermining it, taking out what they wanted and putting nothing back. Something was bound to happen sometime.

Finally it did happen. The thoughtless were astonished. The thoughtful merely wondered what the thoughtless expected.

We suppose there's no one who feels lonelier in Washington than a man who has a reputation for honesty.

With the exception of a boy in a bathroom, a tornado makes the biggest mess.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, March 8

A DAY of great expansion and culmination of high ambitions is the augury based on major planetary activities. It is a time for reaching toward advanced goals in worldly affairs, and for the attainment of the heart's desires in social, domestic, humane and friendly relationships. In the purely private domain it is likely that the feminine element will prove a decisive factor. In other directions there may be small impediments to cope with.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to encounter a year in which there are no limitations to success, happiness and achievement, except in their own restraints and restrictions. It is a time for pushing in all directions to the goal of heart's desire, and should there be a few minor frustrations, the counsel and affection of elderly women are likely.

A child born on this day may be efficient, industrious and ambitious, and also have a humane, compassionate, generous and expansive character. It may enjoy a successful and happy career, one of usefulness to its fellows.

Americans born in log cabins who plan to run for president this year should hurry to get their hookworm cured.

European neutrals might revive an old Missouri favorite for their theme song: "You Gotta Quit Kickin' My Dog Around."

Goering Entertains Welles at Karin Hall

Radiophoto

Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles (left), President Roosevelt's personal envoy to Europe, is shown with Hermann Goering as the No. 2 Nazi pointed out an objet d'art in his lavish mansion, Karin Hall. Goering is said to have shown Welles large-scale aerial maps of Great Britain and declared that Britain is 'a' the mercy of the Nazi air force.

Origin Of Fainting Attacks
Is Described By Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE CAUSE of a fainting attack is interruption of the blood supply to the brain. This results in a complete, sudden blotting out of consciousness, which returns gradually. The mechanism behind the occasional fainting attack which occurs from fatigue is sudden lowering of the blood pressure. I have several times had the experience of examining life insurance applicants who fainted from nervousness while the blood pressure cup was actually on their arm. The blood pressure went down to practically zero at the moment of loss of consciousness.

The fainting of sudden emotional shock is due to a long period when the heart ceases to contract (astyle).

Nature's Treatment

The treatment of a fainting attack is that supplied by nature. A fainting person keels over or falls on the floor, which allows the blood to run into the head, even if the blood pressure is down to zero and the heart has temporarily stopped beating. So we commonly say for treatment, "Put the head down lower than the feet." The nervous reaction of the blood flowing into the skull starts the mechanism of circulation so the heart begins to beat and raises the blood pressure again.

Recurrent attacks of fainting are classified by causes into the "circulatory" and "cerebral".

The automatic nervous system controls the heart and the blood pressure. An important part of the automatic nervous system is the carotid sinus, located in the neck on the carotid artery, or large ar-

S.S.S. TONIC
must be good

So many people take it —to increase appetite
—to boost energy

COUNTLESS thousands of men and women can testify to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought them.

The facts are simple because of all conditions affecting the human body a low blood count is most deceptive. If you feel run down . . . lack a keen appetite . . . have lost weight . . . don't give up until you restore those precious red-blood-cells back to normal.

S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need to get you on the right road to health and happiness again.

In S.S.S. Tonic you go after the trouble in two ways . . . first you increase the appetite and better your stomach digestion—thus making better use of the food you eat—secondly, thin, weak, watery blood is made rich and red again thus giving you a boost in energy.

Try S.S.S. which any drug store can supply and no ethical dealer will suggest a substitute. The big 20 oz. size is a two week's treatment and represents a saving in the purchase price S.S.S. Co.

LENTEN REDUCING DIET
FOR FRIDAY (FAST DAY)

Eat to live, but do not live to eat.

Breakfast: Glass of orange juice, one slice toast, dry without butter; black coffee.

tery, of the neck. The carotid sinus normally serves to maintain a constant blood flow into the brain by reflex regulation. When this nerve reflex is hypersensitive, fainting attacks may occur because the regulation of the blood supply to the brain is not maintained. In people with this condition, pressure over the carotid sinus at the side of the neck results in spontaneous fainting attacks.

Certain drugs will prevent recurrent fainting attacks due to stoppage of the heart, and recurrent fainting attacks due to lowering of the blood pressure from interference with the automatic nervous system. But in the cerebral type of recurrent fainting attacks, there is no change in the blood pressure or heart rate and no drug will prevent them. In certain very severe cases, surgical removal of the carotid sinus has resulted in cure. Chronic fainters are usually very sensitive to changes in posture so that if they stand or sit in one position for a long period, they may faint merely from bodily posture. We see such examples in soldiers standing at attention and people watching parades.

Convalescent patients are taught to get up gradually over a period of days, which is an excellent form of exercise of the blood vessels and is a principle of treatment that can be applied to the chronic postural fainters.

Are you tired of
"BEST"
"FINEST"
"AMAZING"?

YOU'RE PROBABLY sick and tired of reading "best," "finest," "newest," "first," "amazing," and all those other big-talk words in most of the car ads. Who says this one's the best? Who says this other's the finest? Why, the fellows who make the cars. Only natural. But you're the fellow who's going to pay for your new car. So take your own word for how good these cars are—get in them and drive them.

WE DON'T HAVE ANY TRICK NAME for our big Ford hydraulic brakes—but just you feel the way they stop the car! We don't call our thrifty Ford V-8 engine a "Dandy Dynamite Doozer"—but just feel the silky, sudden pull of those two EXTRA cylinders!

YES, AND RICH AS YOU'LL FEEL when you step into that swell Ford interior; you won't have a salesman telling you, "this is our Royal Highness' job!" No sir, maybe we should feed you a lot of trick names and phoney arguments—but we don't. We've got a car with 22 important improvements that does our talking!

THESE 1940 FORDS ARE BEING BOUGHT, not sold. They're going to owners who tried out all the low-priced makes and then came back for ours. That's the way a car should be bought—and that's the way they're buying Fords!

HOW ABOUT YOU, SIR? Would you like to expose yourself tonight to our car's sales talk? Come in . . . we'll hand you the keys and hold our hands over our mouths. That car will do the talking!

MATRON'S YOKED DRESS
Pattern 4403

Bridge parties... luncheons... club meetings—your social life is much more fun when you know you're looking your best. Anne Adams' Pattern 4403 is magically slenderizing and softly charming. The Sewing Instructor makes it a simple dressmaking task, too. Gayly shaped yokes form the sides of the neck with soft gathers below. And a yoke right across the free-and-easy back keeps the shoulders smoothly trim. Darts at the front waistline give nice fit, and three panels make for slim front skirt lines. Have close sleeves with shaped bands or make them shorter and open. The sleevebands and yokes may contrast if you like—lace would be a lovely dress-up touch!

Pattern 4403 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3½ yards 39 inch fabric.

HELP
3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A Busy Night

DAYTON, March 7.—Don Bol-lechino had a busy night. After refereeing a high school basketball tournament, he started to drive home. Two men boarded his auto-into a water-filled ditch, and drove away. Bollechino walked a mile in his socks to report the theft.

told them he had fashioned the plates out of a stove pipe.

Archbishop Crowned In Colorful Rites

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 7.—In a ceremony replete with solemn symbolism, the Roman Catholic church rewarded Samuel Alphonsus
Stritch's 30 years of devoted service today with one of its highest offices, the largest archbishopric in the United States.
Colorful pageantry harkening back to the early days of the church accompanied the enthronement of the slight, kindly-faced churchman as fourth archbishop of Chicago, the spiritual overseer of 1,400,000 souls.
Historic Holy Name cathedral, its throne vacant since the death
Oct. 2 of George Cardinal Mundelein, first cardinal of the west, was the scene of the brilliant rites, with the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cocconati, apostolic administrator to the United States, the officiating prelate.
Assisting in or witnessing the enthronement were more than 100 archbishops, bishops and monsignori, garbed in deep ecclesiastical purple and rich vestments.

BRITAIN'S NEW LINER ACROSS

and brilliant sunshine poured through the broken clouds, speckling the waters and churning wake with gold and silver.

It was estimated, at that time, that the ship was making approximately 28 knots.

Meanwhile, preparations were made to greet the Queen Elizabeth at her new birth at pier 30 at the foot of West 50th street, where two dredges have recently been deepening the north side of the slip for her huge bulk.

Berth Prepared

The newcomer will lie snugly in a $113,750,000 maritime "Klondike" on the New York waterfront, alongside the $80,000,000 French liner Normandie and the Queen Elizabeth's sister ship, the $25,000,000 Queen Mary.

A police detail of 250 men was stationed in the pier vicinity, and not even newsmen or photographers were allowed to enter the pierhead.

In completing her strange maiden voyage, the Queen Elizabeth wrote a new chapter in war-time drama.

Male Student Seeks Role of May Queen

HOUSTON, Tex., March 7.—A bold young male is campaigning against 11 co-eds for Queen of the May at Rice institute because he is "fed up" with women invading fields once open only to men.

J. P. (just call me Petunia) Miller was nominated in a petition presented to the Rice women's council.

"I'm getting fed up with women invading all branches of business and competing with men," Petunia said in his opening campaign statement. "So I'm going to get even."

The election is Monday.

MAKI RETAINS HIS OLD FORM

Finnish Athlete Wins 3-Mile Race In Benefit Performance

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Tall, Maki, who exchanged a soldier's rifle for an athlete's spike to help build up the depleted finances of his native Finland, apparently is not far off the form that enabled him to crack running records right and left less than a year ago.

The mud of Finnish trenches, heavy boots and war ordeals are still fresh memories, yet without much training the 141-lb. speedster stepped out here last night to win easily a three-mile race. He was timed in 14 minutes 15.3 seconds, without being pressed to make it.

The American indoor record is 13:46.2, set in New York February 24, 1925, by Willie Ritola, one of Maki's countrymen. Maki is undoubtedly credited with running the fastest outdoor three miles ever recorded when he went the distance in 13:42.4 in Finland last June.

Accompanied by Paavo Nurmi, his countryman and world's greatest distance runner of the early 20's, Maki made his first appearance in this country in what will be a series of performances dedicated to the benefit of the Finnish relief fund. Nurmi, now 43 years old and partly bald, ran an exhibition half mile.

The two endurance stars were given tremendous individual ovations as they raced around the indoor track in Civic auditorium. Some 2,500 fans turned out, and the receipts were expected to total approximately $1,500.

Maki's next appearance will be in Chicago, where the Finn will run on the dirt track in the University of Chicago field house, March 15. He is scheduled to appear in Cleveland March 29.

McLaughlin Enters Recorder Contest

LISBON, March 7.—Charles A. McLaughlin of Wellsville, county commissioners' clerk, today announced he will seek the nomination for county recorder on the Democratic ticket at the May 14 primary.

McLaughlin, who is a former school teacher and railroad, also served as clerk of the Wellsville board of education before venturing into county politics. In 1934 he was the Democratic nominee for clerk of courts, being defeated in the general election by T. Vaughn Yates of Salem, the Republican nominee. He was later appointed commissioners' clerk, a position which he still holds.

Speed Record

ROOSEVELT, Minn.—He wasn't timed but John Miklos set some kind of a speed record. Miklos was cutting timber. A companion half a mile away, heard him yell and a very short time later saw Miklos streak past.

The reason: Miklos kicked at some brush that got in the way of his ax. The "brush" was the paw of a half-awake black bear.

MOSCOW, Ida.—Kissing never has hurt anyone, J. W. Barton, University of Idaho psychologist, said today. "I knew a man who attained the age of 100 years and attributed his longevity to kissing a pretty girl whenever possible," Barton said.

"I borrowed $300 here and paid all my bills. Now I only have ONE monthly payment to meet!"

"I borrowed $100 and got new Spring clothes at cash prices! I can meet the low payments easily from my salary."

RITTMAN CAGERS STOP COLUMBIANA, 32 TO 22

CLIPPERS FALL BEFORE WAYNE COUNTY QUINT

Columbiana Is Eliminated In District Cage Tournament

KENT, March 7.—The "off night" which Columbiana basketball followers feared would keep their high-flying Clippers from advancing to the finals of the state scholastic Class B tournament made its appearance last night.

Looking nothing like the team which romped through two easy games in the sectional eliminations, the Clippers fell before Rittman of Wayne county, 32 to 22, in the district tournament here.

Out of Tournament

The defeat, eliminating the Clippers from the tournament, marked the second straight time that a Columbiana team has dropped its first start in the district competition. Three years ago, Columbiana advanced through the sectionals, only to lose in its first game in the northeastern Ohio tournament.

Displaying a tight zone defense with a fast-breaking offense, Rittman outscored Columbiana in every period, the second when both teams counted three points. The Wayne county cagers tallied 11 points to Columbiana's six in the first quarter, seven points to the Clippers' six in the third period, and 11 points to Columbiana's seven in the fourth quarter.

Rittman led throughout the game after gaining a five-point advantage in the first quarter. The Wayne county team was never less than five points ahead after the first period. Columbiana trailed 6-11 at the end of the first quarter, 9-14 at halftime, and 15-21 at the close of the third period.

Defense Stops Clippers

The Clippers, encountering difficulty with Rittman's zone defense, appeared unable to move the ball in close to the basket and as a result failed to get their usual number of short range shots.

The Columbiana defense was caught short several times when the fast-breaking Rittman team intercepted passes and moved quickly down the floor to score. On most of these occasions only one Columbiana player was in back court to protect against Rittman's fast break.

The Clippers held Rittman's high-scoring forward, Ike Ramsier, to five points, but were unable to keep tab on Simonton and Schard, who tallied 21 points between them. Jim Burkle led Columbiana scoring with 10 points.

Althouse Quint Rallies To Win

Coming from behind in the last minute and a half of play, the Althouse Motors of Salem moved out to the Bedford Merchants, 36 to 35, in a first round game of the annual Sebring independent basketball tournament at Sebring last night.

A field goal by Clay Raynes when little more than a minute remained to play enabled the Motors to tie the score at 36-35. Shortly after Sammy Drakulich converted a free throw to give the Althouse team its victory.

The Motors are expected to meet the strong Chase Brass team of Cleveland in their next tourney start at 8 a. m. Saturday.

Nineteen College Teams In Tourney

KANSAS CITY, March 7.—Nineteen colleges from 15 states already have been certified for the national inter-collegiate basketball tournament which gets under way Monday and continues all week.

Emil S. Liston, Baker university athletic director and manager of the meet, said a full bracket of 32 teams would be certified for the third annual tournament.

One of the latest entrants is Northwestern college of Winfield, Kas., last year's winner. Teams certified include Glenview State college of Glenview, W. Va., and Holbrook college of Manchester, O.

Praises Derringer

TAMPA, Fla., March 7.—Vince DiMaggio finally has satisfied himself why Paul Derringer of the Cincinnati Reds is a great pitcher. "Gee," exclaimed Vince, "he threw me a change of pace when I was ahead of him—two balls and no strikes."

Wrestling Results

WILMINGTON, Del.—Lou Plummer, 242, South Bend, defeated Don Evans, 220, Houston, Tex., who was disqualified, 19-14.

PITTSBURGH—Walter Podolak, 216, threw Jack Washburn, 230, Cleveland, 18-33.

BOWLING RESULTS

Three Wins Over the Famous Dairy Enabled the Columbiana Firestones to Protect their Five-game Lead in the Pastime League at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

The second-place Tyson's Service kept pace with the league leader by taking three games from Jr. C. of C. No. 1.

Citizens Ice & Coal, third place team, posted two wins in three games with the Salem Label Co. win three games from the Loudon V-8's, the Columbiana Barons make a clean sweep of their match with the Sohioans, and Bossert's take three games from Jr. C. of C. No. 2.

The seventh-place Bankerettes rose up in revolt in the Masonic Ladies' league, taking two of three games with the leading Kresge ladies.

Despite the set-backs, Kresge's remained safely out in front, holding a 10-game lead over the second-place Ohio Edison, which won two of three games with Wark's.

The Elks swept three games from the Electric Furnace in another ladies' match.

Best scores of the night were recorded in the Pastime league where Collier of the Columbiana Barons combined games of 224, 197 and 209 for a 630 series and Clyde Miller of the Salem Label Co. put together scores of 197, 192 and 223 for a 611 total.

National Bowling Tournament Gets Under Way In Detroit

DETROIT, March 7.—The fortieth annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, a record-breaking affair even before the first ball rolls down an alley, opens a two-month stand tonight at the fairgrounds coliseum.

Bowlers from all parts of the United States and from far-away Hawaii comprise the entry list of more than 30,000 scheduled to roll before the close of the tourney May 7.

"This is by all odds our greatest tournament," said Elmer H. Baumgarten, A. B. C. secretary, as workmen put the finishing touches on the 40 alleys of polished maple. "We have shattered all records—marks that were just dreams a few years ago."

The list of 6,073 team entries from 723 cities gave point to his remark. The previous record was the list of 4,957 teams entered in the 1938 tournament at Chicago. The doubles event has attracted 10,398 entries, the singles 20,374.

Fanfare Tonight

Tonight's program is given over to the fanfare of opening the tourney. Teams will begin firing Friday, and from then until the close two months hence the drives will be in use day and night.

The Goebel quintet of Detroit, which rolled 3,151 in Cleveland last year under the colors of the Five Electric Co., is the defending champion in the team event.

Other titlists include: All-events—Joseph Wilman, Chicago, 2,028; doubles—Dolph Teuss and Murray Fowler, Steubenville, O. 1,405; and singles—James Danek, Forest Park, Ill., 730.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, March 7.—If Taisto Maki busts a lot of track records as he swings east, don't be surprised. The Finn did three miles on a slow San Francisco track in 14:15.3. . . . Joe McCluskey, veteran distance runner, had predicted that if Taisto could do 14:20 out there he'd be a riot when he hit the faster eastern courses.

Chester Aubuchon of Gary, Ind., is so good the Michigan State cagers already have elected him captain of the 1940-41 team. . . . Old Arturo Godoy is pretty swift on the comeback. . . . When a coast reporter asked Mrs. G. (who is a knockout) how she came to "marry a guy like that," Arturo stopped him with, "Didn't you ever hear of beauty and the beast?"

Today's Guest Star

C. M. Gibbs, Baltimore Sun: "It is suspected Larry MacPhail is trying to introduce secret practice for his Dodgers. . . . His method was simple. . . . He put a charge of 40 cents on camp intrasquad games."

If Schoolboy Rowe finds his speed gone, they'll shift him to the gardens, giving the Tigers a catcher in first and an infielder and pitcher in the outfield. . . . One of the papers reports Jack Dempsey and Mike Jacobs have a mad on because Mike won't let 'em introduce Jack at the Garden fights. . . . If you think you're running in hard luck, how about H. J. Clements, a horse trainer. . . . He missed cashing in on an $18,649.80 daily double at Tropical by less than a length. . . . He had the only ticket on the combination of Sabulus (which won) and his own Myrna Lee, which just missed. . . . The Indians have added a course in sliding with Prof. Ben Chapman in charge.

One-Minute Interview

Asked to play a game for the Finnish relief fund, Coach Cleo Clements of the Paris (Texas) cagers said:

"We plan to play for our own benefit. . . . My sympathy is with the Finns, definitely. . . . But, after all, the Finns are winning. . . . We're losing."

There is talk of an Arturo Godoy-Valentin Campolo fight in Luna park, Buenos Aires, next winter (summer down there) with Jack Dempsey refereeing. . . . Bill Morgan, rookie halfback for the Washington Redskins, has signed with the films for a role in "The Return of the Cisco Kid." . . . One of the Havana papers sent its sports editor to Tampa to chronicle the doings of all the Cubans in the Red camp. . . . They're reviving talk of a Catholic college football conference in the east with Holy Cross, Fordham, Boston college, Villanova, Catholic U. and Duquesne among the members.

Banquet Department

It is reasonable to suppose that the new Temple coaches, the Messrs. Morrison, Cody and Frank, will preface all those after-dinner speeches they're expected to make with "Pardon my southern accent."

Too Stiff

And we don't blame Ray Morrison for leaving Nashville, either. . . . After all, you can't compete with guys like Poffenberger.

DE SALES TEAM IS CAGE CHAMP

College at Toledo Leads Michigan - Ontario Conference

The De Sales college cagers are again champions of the Michigan-Ontario conference.

The Toledo team made it two straight titles by stopping Calvin college of Grand Rapids, Mich., 57 to 44, last night. It was De Sales' ninth victory in 10 league games and enabled the Sailors to finish the season with a record of 15 decisions and five setbacks.

Frankie Baumholtz, Ohio university forward, scored 20 points as his team defeated Dayton, 62 to 44, to boost his season total to 392 in 25 games. The Bobcats won 19 of the 25 contests while the outcome gave the Flyers a season mark of 4 and 17.

Muskingum college announced that McCoy Martin, freshman basketball coach, would become varsity pilot next season, succeeding Stu Holcomb, who will remain at the New Concord school as football coach and director of physical education.

Mariner started as a player at Muskingum, leading the Muskies in scoring in 1931 and 1932. Holcomb is a former Ohio State university star. The team finished second in the Ohio conference this season, Wooster winning the title.

"SELF MADE GIRL" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

SYNOPSIS

Linda Perry, youngest of the five poverty-stricken Perrys, lives with her family in a small frame house in the country near Philadelphia. Because she is the youngest and prettiest, Linda is spoiled by relatives. Ignorant of social distinctions and the heartaches they will cause later, Linda is completely happy in school with her three best friends—Constance, old Senator Scott's granddaughter; Ruth Wagner, daughter of the local doctor; and Thelma, whose father is the chauffeur of another wealthy family in the neighborhood. The first blow falls when socially climbing Mrs. Wagner objects to Thelma's association with the other children. Soon after that, Constance Scott is sent away to a private school. Ruth Wagner forms a friendship with another girl and Linda—after having been a leader in school affairs for so long—suddenly finds herself in the background.

CHAPTER III

She went to school on the bus now. She was just one of the mob. She was only 15, and her heart was broken, her faith in the world destroyed.

That next year was a blank to Linda. Things happened—but not to her.

There was something about Lawrence and a girl and Bert and he wrangled bitterly over it, night after night. Claudine's stepson, Junior, got pneumonia and almost died. Claudine nursed him through it and then she was ill and had a little, premature baby, a poor wizenup little thing with a face like a tired old man, and presently it died and everyone worried about Claudine.

Linda was sorry for Claudine, too, but it all seemed very remote and unreal. Imagine marrying Chester Barton and living in a cheap flat, with that little rowdy of a Junior jumping all over the furniture and having a lot of crying babies and diapers and coveralls drying all over the place? How could Claudine expect any luck when she was such a fool?

Linda herself would have no such life. She was full of plans that year. Deep in something or other all the time. Nobody understood her and everyone picked on her just because she did a lot of thinking and planning and didn't keep her mind on certain silly school subjects and couldn't get excited over stupid gossip and things the family raved about.

"It's been so long since I went through this mooning-calf stage with the others. I declare I can't believe they were ever that bad," her mother complained. "Claudine was always a sensible little thing, and Blanche had such high marks in school!"

Linda listened, sullenly. She thought, you'll be sorry some day! You'll all be sorry!

Her father's babying her and Grandma Pologne's everlasting cheerfulness, in a world in which nothing went right, irritated her almost as much as her mother's complaints.

Oh, if I could just skip all this—and be grown up and independent, she thought, bitterly. Her very bones ached with rebellion and waiting. Her pillow was often wet at night. Nobody knew how she suffered, how hard it was for her at school, with the girls that had nearly broken their necks to be nice to her when Constance was there, ignoring her now.

It was a hard year for Linda and the family who had to live with her. Then summer came, summer and vacation. It was the hottest summer anyone remembered. The boys complained irritably. Mrs. Perry lay on her sofa in the darkened room, and even Grandma Pologne's song ceased.

But Linda came to life. Constance was home.

The same Constance, harem-scarem, devil-may-care as ever, not changed a bit.

"Come on over!" she telephoned the first morning.

Linda almost ran.

"Come on over!" she telephoned the first morning.

She stayed for lunch and after a momentary panic at sight of the lace cloth and the silver and a new and impressive butler she felt almost as much at home as she used to in Connie's house.

"We missed you," Mrs. Scott said. "Why didn't you ever come over to cheer us up while Constance was in school?"

She laughed as she said it, but she looked as if she meant it, and Linda thought, why didn't I? And already the bleak, unhappy year seemed remote, unreal.

They swam in the swimming pool and lay in the grass in the shade and talked. They tore into town in Constance's yellow roadster, tooting the horn, making staid pedestrians jump. They drove out to the country club in the afternoons and sat on the veranda and had lemonade that Constance signed for.

Ruth Wagner joined them, gushing with Constance, a little sheepish with Linda. Linda wanted to fly at her, she wanted to scream. "After the way you've treated me all year, do you think you can get away with this?" But something restrained her, something she didn't know what, held her back.

Whenever Ruth came, Mrs. Scott drawled, "So nice to see you all together again. Why don't you go and get little Thelma and make it complete?"

somewhere. Tall, dark kids, very sunburnt. They drive around in an old cut-down car—

Constance looked at Linda. Linda looked at Constance.

"Then you have seen them!"

"My goodness, how could we miss them? The only two new men around these parts in 10 years!"

"Will they do?"

Again Constance looked at Linda and Linda looked at Constance.

Constance took a long breath. "They will do," she said.

They all knew that Thelma was changed, that she wasn't even happy with them anymore, but it was a grand way to get even with Ruth and the Wagners.

Linda admired Mrs. Scott passionately. Everything about her. Even the things that she knew weren't considered nice. Suppose she did do the things that people said she did—drink too many cocktails, flirt with other women's husbands, laugh and listen to questionable stories, live a useless, pampered life? She had a good time, didn't she? She was always lovely and poised and kind, wasn't she? Well, what more could anyone ask? Sometimes she was gone for days at a time, visiting, and came back with presents for both Constance and Linda. Trifles, usually—gay scarves, sport socks, new bathing suits or sun suits. And once she brought two summer dance frocks, dotted dimities, one with red dots, one with blue.

"Take them away and fight over them, though I did think of the red for Connie and the blue for Linda's eyes. I braved New York in all the heat to get them for you and I think it was very sweet of me—all because your father wants to show you off at the country club dance."

Linda's heart turned over. She looked at the dress, the sort of dress she'd dreamed of and in the last year given up the hope of ever wearing, because there was no place to wear it to. She was terribly close to tears.

Practically, Constance said "What will we do for men?"

Linda looked up. In her excitement over the dress and a place to wear it, she'd forgotten that they would have to have boys to dance with.

Mrs. Scott laughed. "Your poor father, darling. Asking for men! It'll break his heart! He thinks you will be perfectly content to go and dance with him, and your grandfather, and such. Don't tell him otherwise, for heaven's sake, or he'll—"

Constance laughed, too. She and her mother never fooled each other. It wasn't the way Linda and her mother were. Linda caught her breath and Constance said, "Moms, you've got it all planned out!"

"The McAllister boys," Mrs. Scott said. "Harrison McAllister's sons, here for the summer. You must have seen them at the club or
